THE FEMININE GUT · BUILD YOUR PLATE

Build Your Plate

Nourish your temple, one satisfying meal at a time.

> Use this flexible framework to assemble meals that fit your preferences, appetite, tolerances, and practitioner recommendations. Your portions and protein needs are individual.

BUILDING BLOCK	FOOD IDEAS & HOW TO USE THEM
01 Protein	Chicken, turkey, beef, fish, lentils, or beans if tolerated. Include a suitable protein source with your meal.
02 Vegetables & color	Choose vegetables you enjoy. Try carrots, squash, leafy greens, broccoli, or root vegetables. Cook them if that feels more comfortable.
03 Energy & fiber	Include an appropriate carbohydrate such as potato, sweet potato, quinoa, rice, fruit, or beans, according to your plan.
04 Fats & flavor	Use an appropriate amount of olive oil, avocado, nuts, or seeds if tolerated. Add herbs, spices, or lemon for variety.
05 Optional fermented foods	A small portion of sauerkraut, kimchi, or a suitable live-culture yogurt may fit your plan. These are optional and depend on tolerance.

✦ A simple meal combination

Chicken + Cooked zucchini and carrots + Quinoa + Olive oil and herbs

Adjust ingredients and portions to your needs.

THE TEMPLE METHOD

Your next step

Choose one meal to build this week. Note what felt satisfying, convenient, and comfortable, and bring your observations to your practitioner.

Educational guidance. Follow your individual plan and discuss persistent symptoms or dietary restrictions with your healthcare provider. Avoid known allergens; recommendations should fit your needs.